Vehicle - general

	While insurance is not mandatory in New Zealand, it is highly recommended for your financial wellbeing and also any person(s)/property involved in any mishap. Car insurance can be purchased online and cover can start on the day you take delivery. The cost of your premiums will vary based on your individual circumstances, so there is little benefit in directly comparing premiums with others.
	Ask the dealer if the 12V battery has been charged and tested before installation on the car.
	You should receive 2x key fobs and 1x NFC smart card to lock/unlock the car. Test all to check they work with your car.
	Check that the drive battery is between 97% - 100% charged on delivery.
	Check the tyre pressure on all four wheels is 36 PSI (higher pressure = harsher ride)
	Check the boot for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Granny charger – plug it into a socket and check that it works to charge the car. ● V2L – Vehicle to load adapter (ETA Dec 2022) useful to run your camping inflatable mattress, electric kettle etc. ● Tyre puncture repair kit (pump and sealant goo). ● Tool to remove the caps off wheel lug nuts.
	If you got Duraseal/GardX paint protection applied at the dealer, ask if they also applied it to the front and rear windscreens – if they did – you’ll likely have wiper judder for a while until the coating wears off due to friction.
	Get the dealer to email you a copy of the: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Warranty document and 2. The owner’s manual You can also download the same from: https://bydauto.co.nz/owners-manuals
	Only the sunroof glass is tinted - book your preferred tinting person in advance so that you don't bake in the Kiwi summer sun soon after you take delivery. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● NZ Legal tint is 35% for all windows and rear windscreen. ● You can go super dark (5%) on the rear quarter glass. ● Tinting the sunroof is not advisable as it may crack the sunroof glass - do so at your own risk. ● Look up the topic #tinting on the FB group or click here .

Underbody/Chassis

	Check for damage/scrapes near the jack points.
	Brown/grey tacky coating is for rust proofing and normal.
	If you have paid for a tow hook or roof racks to be installed by the dealer - ensure you understand fully how they function and get any necessary keys/paperwork/certifications for the install.

Bodywork/Exterior

	Check for bumps on the panels, front/rear bumpers as some owners have found manufacturing/transportation damage.
	Check the door and boot rubber stops are screwed in snug or they can drop off.
	There are wheel cowl linings (black) under the wheel arches with spin-on lock nuts, check that they're snug.
	If you have paid for a dealer supplied 'blackout' package, check the edges of the re-painted body panels/plastic parts for paint peeling.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Check for sticky residue from protective transportation films - especially on the bonnet, wheel rims, roof rails, bumpers. • The residue can be hard to remove with just soap and water so request the delivery team to clean up while you're there. • If you do discover it later, use a product like CarPro TarX or WD-40. Spray onto a clean cloth (not directly onto the vehicle surface) to gently wipe off.

Cabin/Interior

	Test air conditioner to max cold and max hot temperatures. Listen for unexpected sounds.
	Check that both front heated seats work at both temperature settings.
	Check all window switches are working. Driver-side switches are one-press full open/close.
	Check the sunshade and sunroof (glass) open and close fully.
	Check all the ambient lights on the speakers, doors, under infotainment screen, trinket tray, and footwells are working.
	Check all steering wheel stalk controls/switches work as expected.
	Check all steering wheel front buttons work as expected.
	Check all centre console buttons work as expected.
	If you paid for floor mats – check they're there. Does not usually include a boot mat.
	Check the passenger airbag is set to 'On' position. Ensure you put it into the 'Off' if you're carrying a rear-facing child seat/capsule.
	If you have a phone with wireless charging – check that the Qi wireless charging pad works with your phone without any phone case/cover.
	You should receive an 8GB (min.) microSD card with your car to store forward-facing dash cam recordings. Note: Cards up to 256GB capacity are known to work without issues.
	Check all USB ports work with your phone(s).
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Check for sticky residue from protective transportation films/stickers on the dashboard, door panels, centre console. • The residue can be hard to remove with just soap and water so request the delivery team to clean up while you're there. • If you do discover it later, use a product like CarPro TarX or WD-40 (spray onto a clean cloth not directly onto the vehicle surface) to clean off.

BYD Mobile app

ETA - App should be available from Jan-Feb 2023.

	Install the mobile app from the Apple App Store or Google Play before you head to the showroom to pick up the car.
	Connect the mobile app to the car and ensure all app functions work as expected.

Infotainment screen/Instrument display

	Check that the latest software updates have been applied to the infotainment. The minimum version should be: 13.1.32.2208162.1 (this is subject to variation/change). This version includes Spotify + Navigation + BYD Assistant.
	Check the infotainment screen and driver's instrument display for scratches or dead pixels.
	Your car should come with a 2GB data plan included – check allowance under the folder Utility tools > Data. NZ SIM cards are available at dealers from 01 December 2022.
	If wireless Android Auto/Apple Carplay is released (ETA Dec 2022) – connect your phone(s) to the car and check if they work.
	Check your phone(s) can connect via bluetooth as a minimum requirement for hands-free driving before you leave the showroom.
	While the navigation maps are loaded as part of the update, your car does need to be connected to the internet/Wi-Fi for the maps to 'activate' and download updates automatically at least once. If you don't, chances are navigation may not work. Recommend to check before you leave the showroom.
